Most Dealers, Nurserymen and Jobbers appreciate quality, appearance and prompt shipment, some insist on these qualities and will buy nothing else; some are influenced by price and attempt to protect themselves by specifying the number of eyes, which is only one of the many essentials which goes to make a good bulb.

When you buy my bulbs you are assured of; large, plump, strong and dormant bulbs, neatly trimmed, liberally divided and carefully packed.

Naturally, every dealer wants to protect his customers and should endeavor to supply them with the best in every line. In buying his stock of Cannas he should insist on something more than the number of eyes. He should buy from a section that is adapted to Cannas, the same as seedmen buy their supply of various kinds of seeds from restricted areas.

Every dealer should insist on bulbs from only strong and thrifty plants that bloomed and be sure that they are free from disease.

YOU ASSUME A BIG RISK WHEN YOU STOCK AND SELL BULBS THAT ARE NOT STATE INSPECTED - CERTIFIED

The vitality of the bulbs you sell your customers, to a very great extent, controls the strength and blooms grown from those bulbs. You cannot plant weak bulbs and grow the strongest plants by fertilization; neither, can you produce the best bloom from weak bulbs.

VARIETIES

- Alimania Crimson Flowers with wide borders of Canary Yellow. Heavy green foliage, excellent growth and habit. Height 4 feet.
- Apricot Peach Pink or Apricot color, with large heads and large, broad and rounded petals. Dark green foliage. A good bloomer and one of the best of the newer Cannas. Height 3 feet.
- Eureka White with creamy cast, large heads and petals. Light green foliage. A strong grower and without question the greatest of the white Cannas. Height 3 feet.
- (This is often listed under various names some of which are:
Mount Blanc, Snow Queen, Blanche Wintzer and Maros.)
- Florence
Vaughan Canary Yellow, with small red dots well down in the throat, large heads of medium bloom. Beautiful green foliage. Height 3 feet.
- Gladiator Lemon Yellow, heavily dotted and stippled with red. Small narrow petals carried on tall spikes, a free bloomer with light green foliage. Height 5 feet. Admired by many but I consider it inferior in comparison with other yellows and do not recommend it.
- Indiana Bright orange, large heads and petals, carried well above the dark green foliage on long purple stems, good for beds and back grounds, very showy. Height 5 to 6 feet.
- Italia Lemon and Gold, large heads and medium ruffled petals, with beautiful green foliage. Height 5 feet.
- King Humbert The Gold Medal Canna. Bright Red, beautiful heart shaped bronze leaves. Very popular in all sections and no collection is complete without the Dwarf King Humbert but be sure you are getting the dwarf variety. Height 4 feet.
- Special
Express
Rates Covering all states East of the Rocky Mountains under I. C. C. No. 2999. Low water Rates along the Coast.

VARIETIES

President

Rich Glowing Scarlet, large compact heads on strong stems well above the beautiful dark green foliage. Unquestionably the greatest of all Cannas and the standard by which other varieties are measured. No collection complete without the President, is the first to bloom and continues until killed by frost. Height 3 to 3½ feet.

Richard Wallace

Deep Canary Yellow, with limited number of red dots in the throat, large trusses of medium flowers. Bright green foliage, a good bloomer and very popular. Height 4 feet.

Wyoming

Blood orange, large heads and petals, heavy, large bronze leaves, a free bloomer and strong grower. Very popular where known. Height 5 feet.

Yellow King Humbert

This is probably the most interesting Canna grown. Lemon Yellow dotted and stippled with red, large heads with large ruffled flowers and large petals, carried on long stems.

Being a sport of the King Humbert, it often shows the resemblance by frequently showing red in the blooms and occasionally a red flower on the same stem with a yellow one and the leaves often show bronze stripes in varying quantities. The most popular and widely planted yellow Canna yet introduced.

Packing

I use wirebound Bruce Boxes for packing, lined with heavy paper and packed in light fluffy shavings from a cabinet planer, this makes lighter container than a heavy cardboard box and much stronger. Have never had a shipment reported as reaching destination in bad condition and I have shipped into Colorado at sub-zero weather.

Some Reasons Why These Bulbs Are Better

They are grown in a section that is especially adapted to Cannas, with medium long growing seasons, mild summers and winters cold enough to render them thoroughly dormant without damaging the vitality

True to Name

My fields are rouged every ten days during the growing season and any plants that bloom wrong are promptly removed. Also, late in the season and before frost, all plants that do not show bloom or a stalk that has had bloom on it are also removed. This insures the vitality and blooming qualities of the crop.

Soil Conditions

Grown in a rich loam and sandy soil, rotated for the best results to produce bulbs of the best quality and vitality.

Climatic Conditions

We have ample rain fall, heavy dews and the moist winds from the ocean, we are assured of a good crop. With these and other natural advantages coupled with extensive experiments and careful study, enables me to produce bulbs of a superior quality.
